

A watercolor painting of a snowy street scene. In the foreground, a wooden utility pole stands on the right, with a street lamp hanging from it. The ground is covered in snow, with a small red trash bin and a green trash bin visible. In the middle ground, a two-story wooden building with a gabled roof and several windows is the central focus. The building's walls are rendered in warm, earthy tones of brown and orange, suggesting weathered wood. The roof is white with some darker patches, indicating snow. In the background, other buildings are visible, rendered in soft, light colors. The sky is a pale, hazy blue-grey. The overall style is soft and atmospheric, characteristic of watercolor.
